Hello! My name is Faith I'm very sweet, nice and full of spice. I'm a business entrepreneur. That means I own my own business. I mind my own business. And, I'm about my business. I believe I am a Goddess. I am the Great I Am. If I could be anything else in this world I would be a "mermaid". Because, I live on earth, the land and sea is my playground. There's no excuses! You can be whatever you want to be. Look at me! I'm beyond beautiful; I'm wonderfully made; imperfect; imperfect yet flawless. I am not a follower. I am a leader. I give persons a reason to love me. I'm excelsior most high and do not worry about what others think of me. Because, I have learned to accept myself as I am. There is room for improvement however right now I just want to enjoy the 50 shades of "beauty".

My dream and goal is to one day become a well known actress/model and make something of myself. I have achieved becoming a certified Vet Technician and a TEFL teacher. The challenges I've faced are growing up in a lower income family and not having the means to get extensive acting and modeling training so I've done it all myself. I've studied day in and day out to learn everything I could about becoming an actress/model.

A dream of a day when all shapes and sizes are acceptable in the modeling industry. Which is why my goal with modeling, is to show that you can be confident in the skin you are in, regardless of your size. This goal has led to one of my achievements, which includes working with extremely talented photographers and together we built a network of photography and modeling friends. In this group we see many challenges, but the one I encounter the most in the modeling industry is age and size. However, I challenge the modeling industry to include a wider and more diverse range of people moving forward.

Jessica Jane Mallais

Born and raised in British Columbia Canada since 1999, Jessica Jane is a Canadian Youtuber and Freelance Model. Beautiful Inside and out- and if smoking weed was a personality trait she would have it. Here is what she has to say; I dream of one day being able to create something that outlives my lifetime and makes an impact. By 2025 I hope to be successful in my career, and recognized for what I do. Something that I am proud of is how strong the human body is, woman in particular. I gave birth outdoors in my own front yard, catching my baby with my own hands without intervention or medication. Doing so only made me feel more powerful! I have had to face hardships too such as harassment, jealousy and judgement from society, I never had many friends growing up so I got switched to an alternative school eventually, I still have trouble making friends. I would like to remind anyone reading this, unless ya mind is open, keep ya mouth shut!

Modeling is just one of the many artistic expressions that I enjoy in life, others being music and drawing! I started five years ago in my mid-twenties, having finally listened to the many suggestions that I should give it a try, and I immediately loved it. My husband was the one who really helped me start my freelance modeling career and was my biggest supporter even while battling cancer for three years. As heartbreaking as it was to do all I could to help him and feel so powerless in those years, any day with him was a treasure, and modeling definitely always helped me feel more positive. After he passed, I lost one of my accounts and also had a very bad experience with an unprofessional photographer. I almost quit modeling and was having a hard time wanting to even be alive anymore. But a good friend wouldn't let me give up, helped me through my darkest days, and inspired me to be true to myself and keep pursuing art through modeling. I am forever grateful for him, and eventually came to find enjoyment in modeling again, find inspiration for art again, build my confidence back, and even- as much as I didn't think it possible- find love again. That good friend is now my life partner and we recently got each other rings for Christmas! (each surprising the other)

My goal in modeling, first and foremost, is to make

art. Whether it's something fantastical, romantic, moody, weird, provoking, or whatever. I work with the photographer to embody their vision and bring it to life. I have learned so much about posing, reading the lighting, and composition, that sometimes photographers have told me I seem to read their minds. I now have a shelf-full of publications and my next goal is to create my own online space where I can share more of content without Instagram censorship. I also look forward to getting more into cosplay and expressing my nerdy side through modeling as well. I have been honored to meet and work with so many talented people and look forward to continuing to work with them and meet even more!

Poojani Perera

I'm Poojani Perera from Colombo, Sri Lanka, a professional model and dancer too. I'm young model just 24 years with a very sensual and perfectly slim figure, love to doing photoshoots especially in semi-nude, bikini and lingerie.

I typically prefer to work with brands that create different type. I want to be able to represent brands that make styles I can recommend to my friends and family with confidence. With this, though, I also like to keep an open mind regarding my preferences and I'd be willing to work with a diverse set of brands in commercial advertising and high-fashion."

My dream is to be a Victoria's Secret model one day. I think the modelling industry need to show women of all shapes and sizes and brands need to advertise curvy models more . Women have tummy's and love handles and cellulite, we are all different but equally beautiful you should not be defined by your body shape. I'm a size 16 myself and I'm happy within my body. I'm confident and happy to show it off on shoots.
