Loves to travel and dances Salsa.

Dear Lisa Kate,

I hope this message finds you well.

My name is Masuda Rahmati — an Afghan-American author, activist, and entrepreneur. I am writing to introduce you to my upcoming book, Pain to Power: My Journey from Afghanistan to America, and the global campaign it has inspired, aimed at empowering teenage girls in Afghanistan and around the world.

Pain to Power is a deeply personal story of resilience, hope, and transformation. It chronicles my escape from war-torn Kabul during the Russian invasion, my journey to America as a young refugee, and my lifelong mission to turn personal pain into a force for healing and empowerment. It is a story of survival — but more importantly, it is a story of thriving against all odds.

Through the Pain to Power campaign, we aim to give teenage girls — especially those facing oppression, violence, and hopelessness — the tools to reclaim their strength, tell their stories, and transform their own pain into leadership, creativity, and self-love. In a time when Afghan girls are banned from education and silenced, Pain to Power offers a voice, a movement, and a lifeline.

Our campaign includes several initiatives:

- A book tour and speaking events dedicated to empowering girls and raising awareness of the mental health crisis facing young people today.
- A scholarship fund to support mental health services and education for teenage girls.
- A global storytelling platform where girls can share their journeys and healing stories.

Masuda Rahmati

• PAIN TO POWER Clothing Line under my brand MASUDA~MASUDA, designed to raise awareness about the teenage girls' mental health crisis and the suicide epidemic. This line of activewear promotes physical strength, mental resilience, and self-love, with proceeds dedicated to supporting mental health initiatives and providing scholarships for mental health care.

We believe that one story can spark a thousand more — and that one empowered girl can change the future of her community, her country, and the world.

I would be honored to collaborate with you to amplify this message of hope and action. Together, we can turn pain into power — for every girl who dreams of a brighter tomorrow.

Thank you for considering this opportunity to stand with us.

With hope and determination,
Masuda Rahmati
Author of Pain to Power: My Journey from Afghanistan to America
Founder, MASUDA~MASUDA

Hope all is well with you. I wanted to send you the story behind my Global Campaign~MASUDA~MASUDA:

PAIN TO POWER.

My name is Masuda Rahmati, founder of the brand MASUDA~MASUDA and the author of the upcoming memoir PAIN TO POWER: My Journey from Afghanistan to America, and creator of the PAIN TO POWER athletic wear and global campaign, inspiring Afghan teenage girls in Afghanistan and around the World.

I am thrilled to share that PAIN TO POWER has proudly partnered with Canyon Crest Academy in San Diego, California, to help educate teenage Afghan girls — many of whom are currently banned from attending school beyond the sixth grade in Afghanistan. Through our collaboration, we are providing these girls with online education via Zoom, helping them earn accredited high school diplomas. I'm proud to share that some of our courageous students have even been accepted into prestigious universities, including Ivy League schools across the United States.

To strengthen this mission, 20% of all proceeds from the PAIN TO POWER clothing line, my upcoming memoir, and all merchandise will be donated to Flowers for the Future, a nonprofit organization through Canyon Crest Academy that is dedicated to empowering Afghan girls through education in Afghanistan.

PAIN TO POWER is not just a clothing line — it is a global movement designed to inspire teenage girls everywhere, and especially Afghan girls, to transform their pain into power through education, exercise, hobbies, leadership, public service and creativity.

I would love the opportunity to be featured on your platform in London to raise awareness about this urgent issue and inspire collective global action. Together, we can give teenage girls the chance to reclaim their futures with hope, dignity, and strength, not only in Afghanistan, but around the world.

Thank you so much for considering this important story. I look forward to hearing from you and working together to make a real and lasting impact.

Warmest regards,

Masuda Rahmati

Natalie Peri: "Acting is not a job, it's a passion"

María Cabeza/ Zulima Paulus-Rosenow

Photographer: Richard Klein.

Natalie Peri is a beautiful and talented model. She is an actress, singer, writer and producer as well. Due to her unparalleled grace and unique style and abilities, she has become an undeniable twenty-first century star. Her first opportunity came as an actress touring with a theater company in the United States and by 2015, her charisma and acting proficiency had drawn the attention of producers, directors and even investors. From that moment until now, Natalie has held coveted leading roles in movies as well as important ones in her marketing career. Last but not least, she now also functions as a producer showing her never-ending capacity to work hard and do things beyond the standard.

A few of Natalie's previous completed projects include: "Footsteps," "Bloody Nuns 2," "BEGS 2" alongside "Candyman" played by the famous actor Tony Todd, "Camp Murder 2," "Montauk Misery," "The Streetz," "Panic in Detroit," "Moth," and recently "Bloody Nuns."

Upcoming projects include a lead role in a new undisclosed film television project which will expand her acting and stunt performance experience through the character of a warrior. In May, she will also be performing in a play with Grammy nominated singer Melba Moore playing her daughter in the remake of the movie "Imitation of Life," along with twenty-time Tony Award winner, writer Norbert Brown JR. In July, she will also play the lead role as a detective in "Dangerous in Love," a feature film being produced in the U.K.

Natalie's music career took off in 2010 when she began performing for large parties and major events in Long Island,

Natalie Peri is expanding her many talents beyond acting. Many producers and directors who have cast her in lead roles for their projects are considering a plus: to give her producer credits and duties such as casting director and investor relations as she brings in funding for their growing numbers of projects and supervillains.

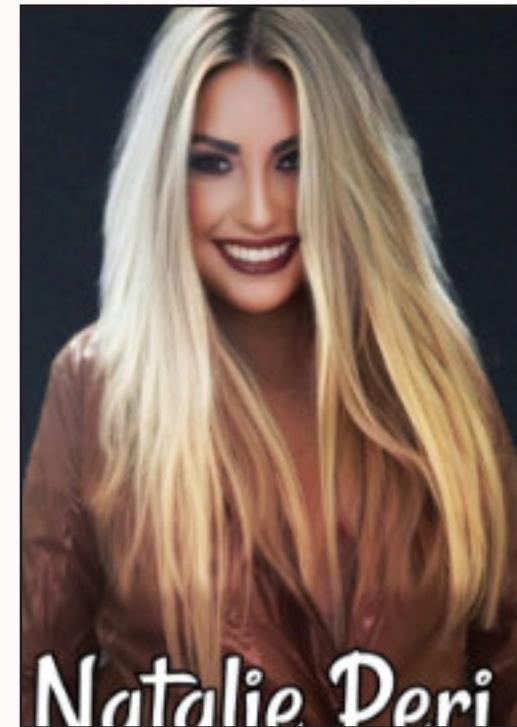

The multi-faceted artist just joined Power Comics Productions LLC as casting director as well as being hired by the company to play lead superhero roles.

Recently, she attended Comic Con in New Jersey dressed in the costume of Pink Diamond, one of her favorites.

At present Natalie is carefully choosing her next steps to continue with her exemplary career. The sky is the limit for this star.

STEVIE KINCHEN

BATON ROUGE LOUISIANA

Powerhouse45@myyahoo.com

A Journey from Baton Rouge to the World of Comics and Film

My name is Stevie Kinchen, and I was born on May 12, 1979, in the vibrant city of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Growing up here, I was surrounded by a rich tapestry of culture and creativity that ignited my passion for storytelling. From a young age, I was captivated by the power of narratives—the way they could transport us to different worlds, evoke deep emotions, and inspire change.

As a child, I spent countless hours reading comic books and watching films, dreaming of one day creating my own captivating stories. Each comic I flipped through and every movie I watched fueled my imagination and lit a fire in my heart. This dream became my guiding light, pushing me to develop my unique voice as a storyteller.

The journey hasn't been easy. I faced numerous challenges along the way, each one testing my resolve. Yet, every setback became a stepping stone on my path to success. I learned the importance of resilience and the value of hard work. These experiences shaped me into not just a creator but a warrior in pursuit of my dreams.

I envision a future where I stand at the helm of my own comic novel and film production. My aspiration is not merely to entertain but to inspire others. I want to show that with passion, perseverance, and creativity, anything is possible. My goal is to build a legacy that resonates with people from all walks of life, transcending generations.

As I embark on this journey, I carry with me the spirit of Baton Rouge—a city that nurtured my dreams and fueled my ambition. I am committed to giving back to my community, nurturing young talent, and creating opportunities for aspiring artists and storytellers.

By sharing my story, I hope to inspire others to chase their dreams relentlessly.

Remember, no dream is too big, and no goal is unattainable. It's not just about reaching the destination; it's about the journey, the lessons learned, and the connections made along the way. Together, let us embrace our passions and strive for greatness, leaving a lasting impact on the world through our creativity.

This is my journey, and I invite you to join me as I turn my dreams into reality, one story at a time.
