Jamarcus Pounds

My name is Jamarcus Pounds. I'm 9 years old, and football is life. If I'm not working out, running routes, or studying the game, catch me on Madden. My dream is to play WR in the NFL, and work myself to the top at all cost. Goals I'm working on right now; getting faster, stronger, and smarter on the field as well as in the classroom. I am an honor roll student, and I work hard at everything I do. I'm from a small town, but I'm determined to get noticed and go places.

Layla Flowers

My name is Layla Flowers. I am a current 8th grader who plays multiple sports at a high level. I am excited to start high school in the Fall. I have always been an excellent student. My grades have always been my focus, so that I can be a successful student athlete. My goals are to get as many college scholarship offers that I possibly can. My mom is a single mom, so having my education paid for has always been the main goal. I compete in basketball and track year round. I love both sports, and will be sad to have to choose which one to ultimately focus on for college. I also made my JV cheer squad. I love staying connected with my community and try to stay involved in activities that will help me become a better person, as well as helping my community. I have a full schedule of AP classes, cheer, plans to make varsity as a freshman in basketball, and compete at the highest level in track. I want to show the world females can be beast athletes and women's sports are important. I want to help make the changes in the women's sports community. I am an all around kid. I love being pretty, but on a court or any track it's all business. If everything goes to plan, you will hear me or see me soon. Olympic games will be the biggest goal I want to achieve. It all starts now and trusting the process of dedication to my sports and training. Women will run the world!

My biggest attributes that can describe me is my speed, grit and my shooting. What stand out the most when I stand on skates is that I can fly past the defenders with my speed.
