Ayden Valentin

My name is Ayden Valentin. I am 9 years old. I have played flag football, 7 on 7 pylon football and Tackle football. Recently we just completed our tackle season and we won Hawaii State Championship then went on to Regionals in Maui and won that too! I was the Quarterback but I also play Wide Receiver and Defensive Back. My number is 18 and I wear it with pride. I want to continue developing and getting better to eventually get into a great college program and after become a Pro and represent my Island of Hawaii.

I started playing soccer at the age of 4 recreationally. I love the sport since then and was always a fierce player. At the age of 7 I started a pre travel program through McLean soccer and last spring I joined McLean u9 girls on the green team which is the top team. I also started to play the futsal this past winter. Thought in10sity, i felt in love with the game. I practice every day and never seem to get tired of extra practice rain or sun, I am there. I am inspired by the us players Sophia smith and Alex Morgan. I dream of being a professional soccer player one day.

Corbyn Everett Lowrie

Corbyn Lowrie is a 7th grade student athlete attending Clute Intermediate School in Clute, Texas. He plays multiple sports with soccer being his favorite. In football he plays quarterback leading the Clute Cougars to a 4th place finish in the Gulf Coast League beating district rivals Lake Jackson and Freeport. Corbyn carries a 3.5 grade point average and participates in the school band as well. On his down time Corbyn loves to spend time with his family and support his big sister on her athletic journey. Corbyn is a great student athlete on and off the field.

My name is Ellianah Woods I'm 9 years old will be 10 in April and am from Chattanooga, TN. I've been playing soccer since I was 4 years old. I remember trying other sports like competitive cheer, but once my foot kicked the soccer ball, I knew that I loved it. Since then I have grown as a player in many ways. I've learned how to be a team player, how to communicate on the field during play, and I've even learned that hard work does pay off. My mom and dad support me in all that I do. They are always pushing me to do my best and always tell me things I do well, things I can work on, and to also have fun. I love it when they tell me that I'm a "BEAST".

Right now I'm on a select soccer team, I have a personal coach, a foot-skills session, and I just started futsal for the first time. It is a lot to keep up with and sometimes I do get tired, but I just remind myself of what my goals and dreams are. My ultimate dream is to make it to the Women's National Soccer Team. I know that that isn't easy, which is what motivates me to keep working as hard as I do. I was recently invited to The Soccer Youth All American Super Cup in Round Rock, Texas. My team didn't get to the championship, but I now have a solid group of friends from all around the country, I was coached well, and left the tournament a better player than I came. A few goals I have right now are getting back to a Soccer Youth Tournament and to win not only the championship, but also the Lock Down Defender award. Some other goals I have are being able to juggle 30 times in a row with both feet, learning the Around the World, and continuing to build power to my shot.

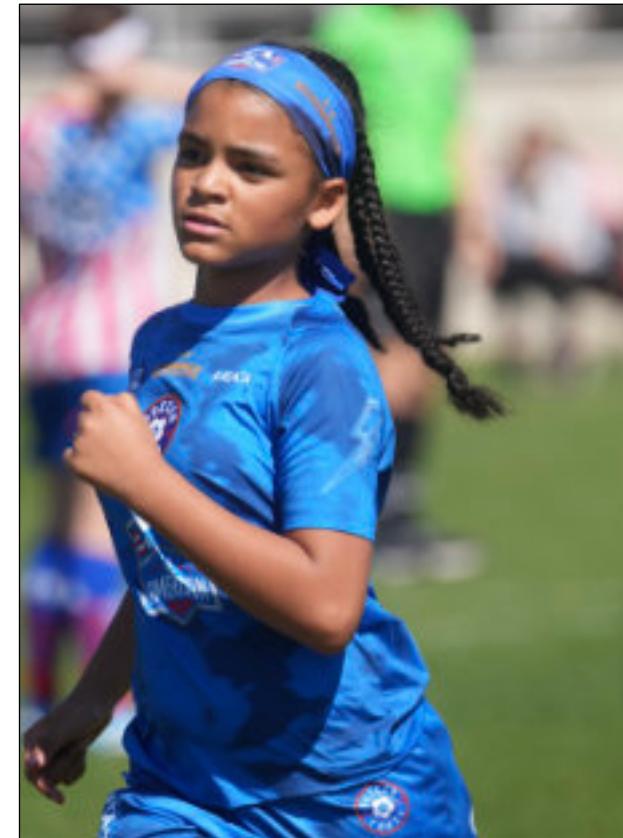

Even though I have these goals and have been able to do some pretty cool things like Round Rock, Texas, there are some things that are hard. Sometimes I'm not confident in myself. My parents, friends and family help me with that though. One time my friends and family FaceTimed me before a big game to encourage me and to remind me not to be afraid, believe in myself, and to play hard. Their encouragement really did help me. Something else that's hard for me is that I'm not the fastest. I plan to really work on my speed and agility, which starts with Futsal.

If anyone out there struggles with confidence or is training really hard to achieve their goals I'd like to tell them one of my favorite quotes, "Hard work beats talent, when talent doesn't work hard."

My name is Estefani I play for BVB 2013g team and my dream is to be a famous soccer player for team USA and to meet my favorite soccer players Mbappè and Ronaldo. My goal is to score 2 goals each game and win the current league my team in. What I achieved so far is a double hat trick in league qualifying play and getting better with my skills I'm learning during practice. I love playing 1v1 with my younger brother at home every as we help each other get better. My challenges are overcoming nerves while on the pitch.

Giavanna Lawson

My name is Giavanna and I am 8 years old and an elite level 1 cheerleader. I am on team Royalty (Mini level 1) and this is my second season cheering. My biggest achievement is being placed in advanced level 2 tumbling classes. I am working on some level 3 skills and I was excited to land an aerial. My short term goal is to be a flyer next season and long term goals are to be on a level 5 or 6 cheer team and go on to cheer on the collegiate level.

Javion Jamarcus Donley is a 7th grade student athlete attending Clute Intermediate School in Clute, Texas. He plays multiple sports with basketball being his favorite. On the football field he was the starting defensive tackle finishing the season with 27 solo tackles, 6 sacks, & 2 forced fumbles. On the basketball court Javion is a force on offense and defense. When Javion gets older he wants to be a professional athlete and musician. He maintains a 3.0 grade point average and a great student on and off the court.

Parker Bell

My name is Parker Bell I am an 11 year old quarter back. I live in forney texas, and graduate in 2031. I started playing football when I was 4 years old, but I transitioned to QB position 3 years ago. My dream right now would be to play my position in high school and maybe even college, but I have learned to set short term goals to achieve a greater end result. That means I strive my best to just be 1% better, ever single day I train. I love competition and I love all my teammates. I hope we all continue to push each other no matter what we do in life to always be 1% better every day.

Penelope
Rose Green

My name is Penelope Rose, I am 9 years, and a cheerleader at Cheer Passion in Chapin South Carolina. I have cheered here for 2 years and I am currently on the Emeralds team. Cheerleading has helped me break out of shell, try new things, be confident, and push myself to be better. It has helped me focus and make great friends. Cheerleading is fun but also teaches discipline, and concentration!

Xavier Ortiz

My name is Xavier Ortiz, I am 11 years old and in the 5th grade. I am from Thornton, Colorado. I play QB for the Northern Hurricanes and we play in JYFA . I have been playing QB for the past 6 years, I love everything about it. I play QB because my older brother played it and was the best, I watched him and fell in love with the position. My older brother has taught me a lot about the position along with my Dad and QB Coach Steve Fairchild. I wear #8 on the field for my big brother. My dreams are to be the best and make it to the NFL. One of my goals is to make my Bloodline proud of me and my accomplishments. Another one of my goals is to make it to /college Football and beyond to the NFL. A goal i always have for myself is to get better everyday, which is why I work so hard. I was named Offensive MVP by my team and coaches for the past 3 years and a team captain for the same. I play Football because I love it and want to be the best, I play QB because of the pressure. Pressure creates Diamonds!

As an athlete with big dreams, I Xavier have always aimed high. My ultimate goal? To play Division 1 in not just one, but two sports. It's a challenge I've willingly embraced, driven by a relentless pursuit of excellence and a passion for both football and track.

Setting my sights on the lofty heights of collegiate athletics, I've committed myself to the grind, pouring sweat and determination into every practice session, every game, and every race. The road to D1 isn't an easy one, but it's a journey I'm more than willing to undertake.

Xavier Shaw

Of course, no journey worth taking comes without its fair share of obstacles. For me, one of the biggest challenges has been the constant comparison to other athletes. It's all too easy to get caught up in the numbers, the rankings, and the achievements of my peers. But I've learned to turn that pressure into fuel, using it to drive me forward rather than hold me back.

Along the way, I've had my fair share of victories – both on the track and on the field. In Florida, where competition is fierce, I've managed to carve out a place for myself among the top 50 athletes in all my track events. From the Jr. Olympics to the MFFCA 12u Super Bowl for D2, I've tasted success and felt the sweet satisfaction of a hard-fought win.

But my journey is far from over. With each race, each game, each opportunity to step onto the field, I'm one step closer to realizing my dreams of playing at the highest level. The pursuit of D1 excellence is a marathon, not a sprint, and I'm in it for the long haul.

As I stand at the crossroads of my athletic career,

I'm filled with a sense of purpose and determination. The road ahead may be tough, but I'm ready to meet the challenge head-on. With passion in my heart and fire in my soul, I'll continue to push myself to new heights, never losing sight of the ultimate goal – to make it to the pros in both sports.

In the end, it's not just about the wins and losses, the rankings and accolades. It's about the journey – the highs and the lows, the triumphs and the setbacks. It's about the relentless pursuit of greatness, the unwavering commitment to excellence, and the unshakeable belief that anything is possible if you're willing to put in the work.

So here's to the dreamers, the believers, the ones who refuse to be bound by convention. Here's to the pursuit of D1 glory – in football, in track, and in life. The journey continues, and I wouldn't have it any other way.
