Tracie Sperling

My name is Tracie Sperling. I am 32 years old from Falls Church, VA. I graduated from Marymount University with a B.A in Liberal Studies with concentrations in Fashion Design and Business Administration. I developed my art background from college by taking Drawing I, Painting I, and Painting II, Fashion Illustration etc. I was selected by a panel of judges for the annual student art show twice in a row. I had my own display.

I work with mixed media such as acrylic paint, sharpie oil paint, markers, makeup for portraits and even glitter spray. I enjoy doing collages also. I am an entrepreneur and own COB Abstractart which stands for Creativity Outside The Box. I incorporate my art as actual fabric designs for clothing and matching accessories. One big accomplishment I had was being hand picked by professional art curators for a platform called AllArtWorks. I had an online art gallery that featured two original paintings. In addition, I was selected by a panel of judges for an ITSLIQUID art exhibition where my work was featured in The Contemporary Room art museum in Venice, Italy. I was interviewed for this company as well and the journalist published me in an article for Canvas International Art Fair 2022. As far as fashion designs, my professional, custom made clothing line was featured in NYFW by models on the runway. It was showcased in SDP New York Fashion Week of my original abstract art inspired by landscape pieces in nature.

In addition, I also do acting on the side. I started off doing short skits on YouTube with director Rick Gregory. Two highlights were "Hide For Your Life" and "Freight Stroll". I also debuted in my first horror/sci-fi movie called Chase's Shadow where I played Erin who was a dark, evil villain possessed by Mr. End. This film has one several awards including "best feature sci-fi film" nominated by Hollywood Blvd Film Festival. There was a huge movie premiere in L.A and I am proud it has received this recognition in the industry. Brad Tessin is the amazing director who worked 3 years on filming and producing this project which landed up having a sequel with BTMS productions.

Tracie Sperling

I graduated from Syracuse University with a B.A. in Fashion Design and Business Administration. I incorporate my original art as actual fabric designs for clothing and matching accessories. I also enjoy modeling on the site as well as writing.

...emerging fashion designer... I have always had a passion for fashion. I love the latest trends while creating my own style. To see my hard work officially pay off, when my original designs are professionally designed for the runway is a total thrill. I love to design my custom made clothing and watch my ideas come to life and hopefully be presented to people and models who may be interested. I could not do it without working with such a talented team at The Designer's Production. They really push you towards your long term goals and inspire you to be your best.

Tell us something about your journey for making an emerging fashion designer? My style is mostly street wear inspired. Thanks to my main inspiration is from my friends every when I come to think I would style someone on Long Is. I love to be in the edge, casual but with a twist.

What is your biggest inspiration? I still love to see the New York City. My passion was born in New York, Chicago and Queens. I love the city and the energy. I want to work for big cities and get a taste of the big city life that is essential to fashion. My experience has been participating in a fashion show in one of the most iconic cities in the world. I got to meet and work with others who are in the fashion field. Thanks to the amazing team at The Designer's Production for helping make my dream happen. I was so happy to be a part of New York Fashion Week.

Tell us something about your DFW experience as a model and designer. My experience as a model has been a journey. I started out through a talent agency called Factory Spotlight. I was selected by a panel of judges to be a model. I did a few shows and a fashion show with black and white theme. Since then, I have done it again.

COB ABSTRACTART

I have some amazing fabrications such as creating the city life for a trendy pop-art called 'Mid Century South' fabric as well as being published in a Fashion Trends magazine for a previous issue and 'Through The Lens'.

I have created a portrait body image to show that models come in all shapes and sizes.

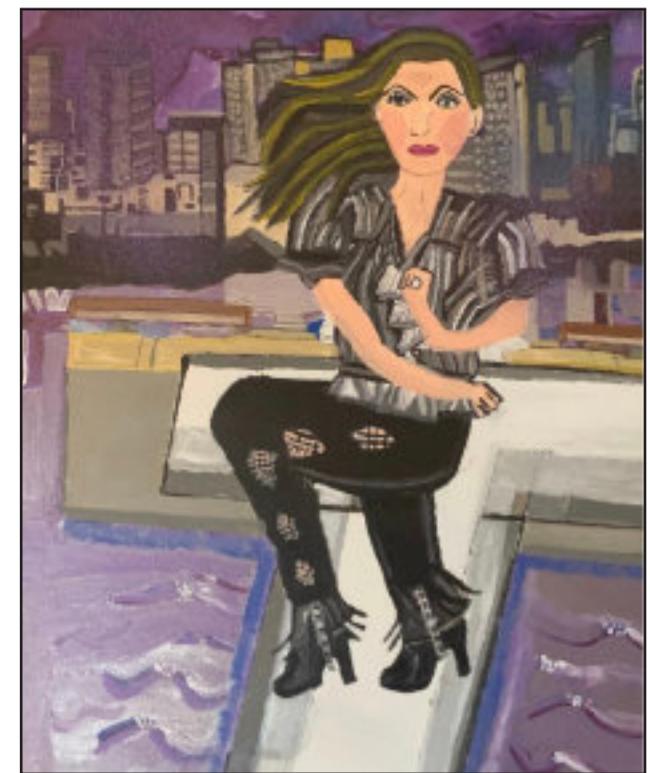

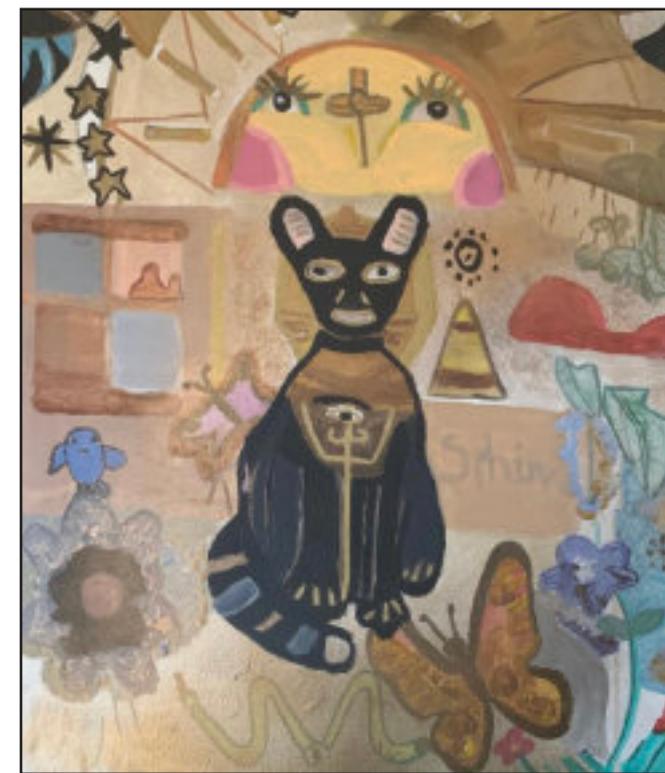

What makes DFW so great? gives us great press exposure.

DFW was more upscale and professional compared to my other shows. The art styling with high production, large audience etc.

If there's something you want to share to the people in the community what would it be and why?

We would like message to others in the community to be proud and not let anyone bring you down.
