Photography is more than a career or creative hobby to me—it is a meaningful part of who I am. For nearly 15 years, I have used my camera to capture emotion, confidence, beauty, and the special moments people want to remember forever. Through Namli InCompany Photography, I have created a space where families, models, children, and individuals from many different backgrounds can feel comfortable, celebrated, and seen.

One of my greatest dreams is to continue growing Namli InCompany Photography into a successful and respected photography business. I want my work to be recognized for its emotional depth, creativity, and ability to bring out each person's unique personality. I dream of creating unforgettable portraits, professional advertisements, magazine-worthy editorials, and imaginative fantasy sessions. I would also love to see my photography published in magazines and displayed in galleries while continuing to build a lasting legacy for myself and my family.

My goals extend beyond simply taking beautiful photographs. I want every client who steps in front of my camera to feel confident and comfortable in their own skin. As a plus-size woman, I understand how difficult it can be to accept and appreciate yourself. That experience inspired me to begin working with plus-size women and helping them recognize their own beauty. Photography has helped me build my confidence, and I want to give that same feeling to others. Whether I am photographing a model, mother, child, couple, or family, my goal is to capture something honest and meaningful.

Julia

I am especially passionate about family, fashion, and fantasy photography. Family sessions allow me to preserve love and connection, while fashion photography gives me the freedom to experiment with lighting, styling, movement, and bold creative ideas. Fantasy photography allows me to transform imagination into art by creating magical worlds and unforgettable characters. I also enjoy photographing headshots because there are so many unique ways to reveal someone's personality through expression, lighting, and composition.

One of my proudest achievements is continuing to grow as a photographer despite the personal and professional challenges I have faced. After losing my mother, photography became therapeutic for me. It helped me move through grief, reconnect with the world, and find purpose during a difficult time. My love for photography also carries a special family connection because my grandfather was a military photographer. Knowing that photography is part of my family history makes my work feel even more meaningful.

Over the years, I have had the opportunity to meet wonderful people, collaborate with talented models and businesses, photograph special events, and explore many different styles. I have learned how to work through difficult lighting, unexpected conditions, technical problems, and sessions that do not always go according to plan. Every experience has taught me something new and helped me become more patient, adaptable, and confident in my abilities.

Like many small-business owners, I have also faced financial hardships, competition, equipment expenses, changing technology, and the ongoing challenge of reaching new clients. Balancing creativity with the business side of photography is not always easy. There have been moments when I questioned myself, but every challenge has strengthened my determination. I continue to learn, experiment, and find new ways to share my work because I believe in what I create.

My journey is still unfolding. I want to continue developing my artistic voice, expanding my portfolio, and building a business that people trust. Most importantly, I want my photographs to remind people that they are worthy of being seen and celebrated. My dream is not only to become more successful, but also to create images that leave a lasting emotional impact.

Photography has taught me that beauty can be found in vulnerability, confidence can grow through creativity, and difficult experiences can be transformed into meaningful art. Every photograph represents a moment, a story, and a connection. Through Namli In Company Photography, I hope to continue capturing those stories while building a legacy filled with family, fashion, fantasy, healing, and genuine human emotion.

The Best Things Hollywood Has to Offer

Hollywood is more than a place. It's a pulse — a shimmering engine of imagination, glamour, and global influence. For over a century, it has shaped how the world dreams, fears, laughs, and escapes. Its power isn't accidental; it's built on a constellation of strengths that no other entertainment hub has ever matched.

Prestige Storytelling

Hollywood's greatest export is its storytelling — bold, emotional, and universally resonant. From sweeping epics to intimate dramas, Hollywood has mastered the art of crafting narratives that become cultural landmarks. Its writers, directors, and showrunners build worlds that feel as real as our own, often more vivid. Whether it's the chilling tension of a thriller, the heart of a romance, or the spectacle of a blockbuster, Hollywood's stories set the global standard.

Cinematic Innovation & Blockbuster Spectacle

Hollywood is the birthplace of the modern blockbuster. It's where special effects became sorcery, where sound design became a heartbeat, and where visual storytelling evolved into an immersive experience. Studios invest hundreds of millions into films that push technology forward — CGI breakthroughs, IMAX innovations, and sound systems that shake the soul. When Hollywood wants to dazzle, it does so on a scale no one else can match.

The Star System & Global Icons

Hollywood doesn't just make movies; it makes legends. Actors, directors, and creators become global icons whose influence stretches far beyond the screen. Red carpets, premieres, award shows — these rituals create a sense of myth and magic around the people who bring stories to life. The world watches Hollywood's stars not just for entertainment, but for inspiration, fashion cues, and cultural direction.

Elite Streaming Empires

Hollywood's streaming platforms have reshaped how the world consumes entertainment. Netflix, Disney+, Hulu, Max, and Prime Video deliver Hollywood's best work directly into homes, creating a new era of binge-worthy storytelling. Prestige series, limited dramas, documentaries, and original films now reach global audiences instantly. Streaming has made Hollywood more accessible, more diverse, and more powerful than ever.

Influential Entertainment Companies

Hollywood's studios are cultural powerhouses. Disney, Warner Bros., Universal, Paramount, Apple, and Amazon shape global trends, drive innovation, and define what entertainment looks like. Their decisions ripple across the world — influencing fashion, music, technology, and even politics. These companies are not just content creators; they are architects of modern culture.

Premium Moviegoing Experiences

Hollywood still knows how to deliver a night out like no other. Luxury theaters, immersive sound, reclining seats, gourmet concessions — the moviegoing experience has become an event again. AMC, Regal, and boutique cinemas offer premium formats like Dolby Cinema, IMAX Laser, and 4DX, turning films into fullbody experiences.

Cultural Influence & Global Reach

Hollywood shapes the world's imagination. Its films and shows influence fashion trends, social conversations, memes, music charts, and even political narratives. When Hollywood speaks, the world listens — and often imitates.

Live Events, Fandom, and Spectacle

Premieres, award shows, fan conventions, studio tours — Hollywood knows how to put on a show. These events create community, excitement, and a sense of belonging. Fans travel across the world to experience Hollywood magic firsthand.

Why Hollywood Still Matters

Hollywood remains the beating heart of global entertainment because it offers something rare: a fusion of creativity, glamour, technology, and cultural power. It's where dreams are manufactured, where legends are born, and where the world goes to escape, imagine, and feel.

Hollywood is not perfect — but it is unmatched.

MES CONSEILS POUR METTRE EN VALEUR VOTRE PROPRIÉTÉ CET ÉTÉ!

- ✓ Aménagement soigné: Assurez-vous que la pelouse est tondue, que les mauvaises herbes dans les parterres de fleurs sont éliminées et que la façade de la maison est propre et attrayante. Un coup de peinture frais sur la porte d'entrée peut faire des merveilles.
- ✓ Faire des travaux d'entretien: Profitez de la période estivale pour régler les petits problèmes d'entretien, comme les robinets qui fuient, les ampoules grillées, les portes qui grince, etc.
- ✓ Jouer avec la lumière naturelle: L'été, la lumière naturelle est abondante. Ouvrez rideaux, les stores et les volets pour laisser entrer la lumière. Assurez-vous que les fenêtres sont propres pour maximiser la luminosité à l'intérieur.
- ✓ Créer une ambiance estivale: Des coussins colorés sur la pelouse et une table dressée pour un barbecue imaginaire dans le cour peuvent aider les acheteurs potentiels à visualiser leur vie estivale dans la maison. Ajoutez des touches décoratives comme des lanternes, des plantes en pot et des meubles d'extérieur confortables afin de rendre votre extérieur plus chaleureux et accueillant.
- ✓ Une pelouse verte: Un beau gazon peut augmenter la valeur de votre maison, assurez-vous de bien l'arroser et la fertiliser lors des canicules.

Melody Summers

Melody Summers

My Name is Mila Jade Cullen and I'm a dancer and performer. I've been incredibly lucky through dance to win National and World Championship titles, represent brands including Energetiks, collaborate with high fashion brands and travel all over the world doing something I love. I'm really proud of what I've achieved so far, but I also feel like I'm only at the beginning of where I want this journey to take me.

Dance has been a huge part of my life for as long as I can remember, although the reason I first started ballet is actually quite different to why I dance today. As a toddler, my feet turned in quite badly when I walked, and my doctor recommended ballet as a way to help correct this. So ballet began as something that was meant to help me physically, and somewhere along the way it became something I completely fell in love with.

I wasn't necessarily the most natural little dancer. I could be quite messy and there were things technically that I really had to work at. But I had passion, I loved being on stage and I wanted to improve. Looking back, I think that taught me really early that progress comes from much more than natural ability.

I'm a big believer in consistent effort. For me, it's not about working hard for one class or one competition. It's about showing up consistently, being open to corrections and, most importantly, actually applying them. I try to listen to my teachers, take on what they are telling me and then put it into practice. There is always something to work on, and I think being willing to learn is such an important part of growing as a dancer.

I feel incredibly fortunate to train with the amazing teachers at Brent Street and Dance Prescription. I genuinely believe I'm receiving some of the best dance training in the world and I don't take that opportunity for granted. I'm surrounded by teachers with so much knowledge and experience who inspire me, challenge me and help me continue to grow. I'm extremely grateful for their guidance and everything I'm learning from them.

My favourite styles are contemporary and musical theatre, but I love and train in all styles of dance. My main focus is generally commercial dance, although I also do a lot of ballet and really love the classical side of dance. I believe strongly in staying versatile as a performer. This industry can take you in so many different directions, and I want to keep as many opportunities open to me as possible. Whether that means commercial work, musical theatre, classical training or something I haven't even discovered yet, I want to have the skills and versatility to be ready for it.

I also love to sing, and that's another side of performing I'm really excited to develop further. I plan to continue expanding my vocal training and exploring where singing might take me alongside dance. Being able to combine singing, dancing and performing opens up another whole world of possibilities, which is really exciting to me.

Technique is incredibly important and something I'm always working on, but I also believe technique is only part of being a great performer. For me, there is no point in having beautiful technique if you don't make the audience feel something. I want to dance from my heart, tell a story and put my heart and soul into whatever I'm performing. The dancers who inspire me most aren't just the ones with incredible technique. They are the ones you can't stop watching because you feel what they are dancing.

I'm very grateful for the opportunities dance has already given me. Winning National and World Championship titles has been really special, as has representing Energetiks and having opportunities to collaborate with high fashion brands. Dance has also taken me all over the world and allowed me to experience different places, meet amazing people and learn from dancers, teachers and creatives from different backgrounds. I feel very lucky that something I love has already given me so many experiences and memories.

As proud as I am of those achievements, I know there is so much more I want to learn and experience. I think that's one of the best things about performing. There is always another goal, another style to explore, another correction to apply and someone new you can learn from.

My biggest dream is to make a career out of performing. I would love to continue dancing internationally, travelling and working with incredible choreographers and creatives. I'm also excited to see where opportunities across dance, singing, musical theatre, music and fashion might take me. I don't have one exact picture of what my future has to look like, and I actually like that. I want to stay versatile, keep developing different skills and be open to opportunities when they come.

Of course, there are challenges behind all of this too. I train very long hours, and one of the most important lessons I've learned is that looking after my body is part of being serious about my training. I learned through experience that not fuelling myself enough for the amount of dancing I was doing wasn't sustainable. When you ask a lot of your body, you also have to give it what it needs.

Now I'm really conscious of eating enough to support the hours I train and making sure my body has the energy and strength it needs to perform at its best. I've also learned to recognise when I genuinely need rest and recovery. For me, balance doesn't mean being less committed or doing less. It means fuelling myself properly, recovering when I need to and taking care of my body so I can continue doing the amount of training I love to do.

Dance also comes with nerves, disappointments and times when things don't go the way you hoped. I'm learning that success isn't just about titles or getting every opportunity you want. Sometimes you learn the most from the things that don't go your way. You take the lesson, go back to training and keep moving forward.

More than anything, I want to keep loving what I do. I want to stay curious, versatile and open to learning. I want to keep improving my technique, listen to my teachers and be consistent with my effort, but I never want to become so focused on getting everything technically perfect that I forget to actually dance.

It's pretty amazing to think that ballet originally came into my life because my feet

turned in when I walked, and something that began for such a practical reason became something that has taken me around the world and given me opportunities I never could have imagined.

Wherever performing takes me next, I want to keep working hard, stay grateful for the opportunities I'm given and always perform with heart. For me, that's what dance is really about: tell the story, feel the music and put your heart and soul into it.

My photography is a blend of emotion, creativity, fashion, and fantasy, with every image designed to tell a story and reveal something meaningful about the person in front of my camera. I love capturing real personalities, genuine emotions, confidence, beauty, and those unexpected moments that make a photograph unforgettable. My style can move from raw and natural portraits to dramatic high-fashion editorials, dreamy fantasy concepts, family connections, and bold artistic transformations. I believe photography is more than simply taking a beautiful picture—it is about creating an experience, building a connection, and giving people the opportunity to see themselves in a new way. Through my work with Namli InCompany Photography, I want each photograph to feel personal, expressive, and uniquely its own—a piece of art that captures not only how someone looked in that moment, but how they felt.

My dreams and goals have always centered around growing as a photographer, artist, and business owner while creating images that truly make people feel something. Through Namli InCompany Photography, I have spent years developing my creative vision and building a style that combines family, fashion, fantasy, and real human emotion. One of my greatest achievements is having the courage to continuously experiment, work with new models and clients, and transform simple ideas into meaningful visual stories. I am proud of the experience and recognition I have gained as an award-winning photographer, but I also know that every creative journey comes with challenges. Lighting, changing technology, building my business, finding new opportunities, and pushing myself beyond my comfort zone have all tested me at times. However, these challenges have made me more determined and creative. My dream is to continue expanding Namli InCompany Photography, create high-fashion and emotionally powerful work worthy of magazines and major campaigns, and leave behind a photographic legacy that shows my unique vision, passion, and connection to the people I photograph.
