Namli InCompany Photography is a professional photography business based in Ventura County, California, dedicated to capturing meaningful moments and turning them into lasting memories. With over 15 years of experience behind the camera, I have developed a passion for creating images that tell a story and showcase the unique personality of every individual I photograph.

My specialties include portraits, headshots, family photography, child portraits, graduation sessions, boudoir photography, and creative fantasy-themed photo shoots. I believe that every person deserves to feel confident, beautiful, and valued in front of the camera. My goal is to create a comfortable and enjoyable experience while delivering high-quality images that clients will treasure for years to come.

What sets Namli InCompany Photography apart is a commitment to blending artistry with emotion. Whether photographing a family celebrating a milestone, a graduate beginning a new chapter, or a model expressing confidence through fashion photography, I strive to capture authentic moments that reflect each client's individuality.

Photography is more than a profession to me—it is a way to preserve memories, celebrate life's milestones, and create visual art that can be shared for generations. Through Namli InCompany Photography, I am honored to help clients tell their stories one image at a time.

Tattooing hasn't always been a dream of my own, but it became my peace many times over and in many ways. Since the start I had goals of opening my own tattoo studio and just being someone who stuck around in the industry. Learning and sticking to it over the years. Now, at 50 I'm still going. I have had the pleasure of tattooing at many conventions around the country. Other shops and won a few awards. I've always wanted to be in as many tattoo magazines as possible and it's an honor to once again be able to do so I started my tattoo journey at the age of 18, already knowing that I wanted to tattoo my entire body. For me, it was never about collecting random pieces, but about creating one complete visual identity. Over the course of four years, my full body tattoo project was completed.

The full body project was created by Ákos Németh, in a consistent anime-inspired, Japanese style. This coherence is very important to me, because my body is not just covered in tattoos, it represents one unified visual concept.

Because of this appearance, people often stop me in public, start conversations, or ask about my tattoos. I have attended several tattoo expos, where I received a lot of positive feedback from both visitors and professionals. These experiences made me realize that my look naturally draws attention and creates interest.

That is when I decided that I want to take this further and present myself to the world as a tattoo model. My goal is not only to showcase tattoos, but to represent tattoo culture in a clean, professional and artistic way.

My current dreams and goals are fully aligned with building a strong international career as a tattoo model. I want to work on editorial projects, collaborate with photographers, brands and magazines, and continue growing as a model while staying true to my identity. I see my tattoos not as a limitation, but as my greatest strength and signature.

My dreams and goals have always centered around growing as a photographer, artist, and business owner while creating images that truly make people feel something. Through Namli InCompany Photography, I have spent years developing my creative vision and building a style that combines family, fashion, fantasy, and real human emotion. One of my greatest achievements is having the courage to continuously experiment, work with new models and clients, and transform simple ideas into meaningful visual stories. I am proud of the experience and recognition I have gained as an award-winning photographer, but I also know that every creative journey comes with challenges. Lighting, changing technology, building my business, finding new opportunities, and pushing myself beyond my comfort zone have all tested me at times. However, these challenges have made me more determined and creative. My dream is to continue expanding Namli InCompany Photography, create high-fashion and emotionally powerful work worthy of magazines and major campaigns, and leave behind a photographic legacy that shows my unique vision, passion, and connection to the people I photograph. My dreams, goals, and achievements are deeply connected to my passion for photography and the life I have worked hard to build. My dream is to continue growing Namli InCompany Photography into a successful and recognizable photography business where people come to me not only for beautiful photographs, but for an experience that makes them feel confident, comfortable, and valued. I want to continue exploring family, fashion, fantasy, portraits, headshots, and creative editorial photography while pushing myself to try new concepts, work with new models, and expand my artistic abilities. One of my biggest goals is to use photography to help people—especially women—see the beauty and confidence within themselves and feel comfortable in their own skin. I also want my photography to create memories that families can treasure for generations and to build a legacy through the images I create. I am proud of everything I have already achieved, from developing my own distinctive photographic style and running my own business to collaborating with models, families, other creatives, and local businesses. I have continued creating and pursuing my dreams even through difficult periods in my personal and professional life. Every photoshoot, collaboration, promotion, and person who trusts me behind the camera is another achievement in my journey. I know I still have much more I want to accomplish, and that is what keeps me motivated. My greatest dream is to keep growing as a photographer, build a lasting name for Namli InCompany Photography, inspire confidence in others, and create meaningful art that people will remember long after the photograph is taken.

My goal is to become a successful model and influencer who inspires others through authenticity, professionalism, and purpose. I strive to make a positive impact, lead by example, and continuously grow into the best version of myself while using my platform to create meaningful change.

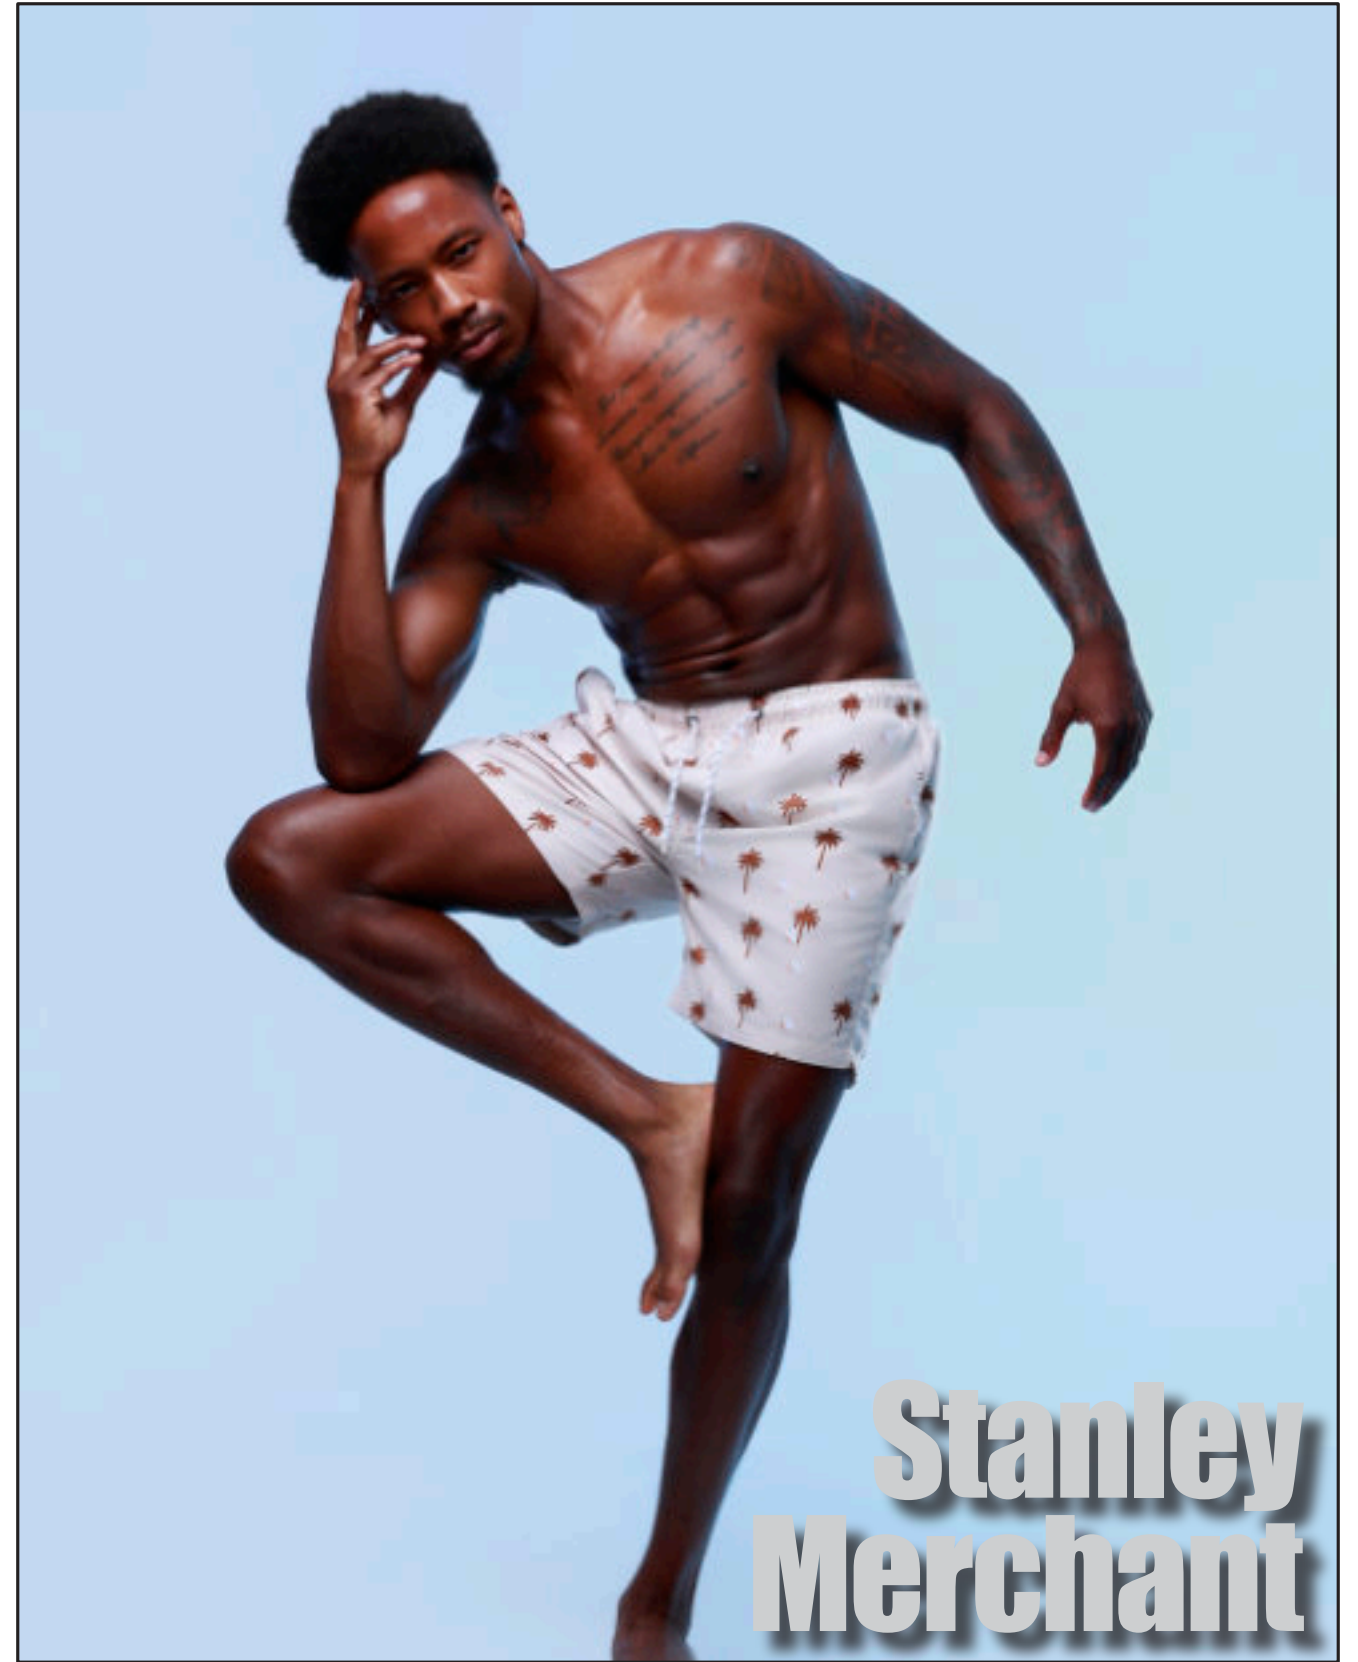

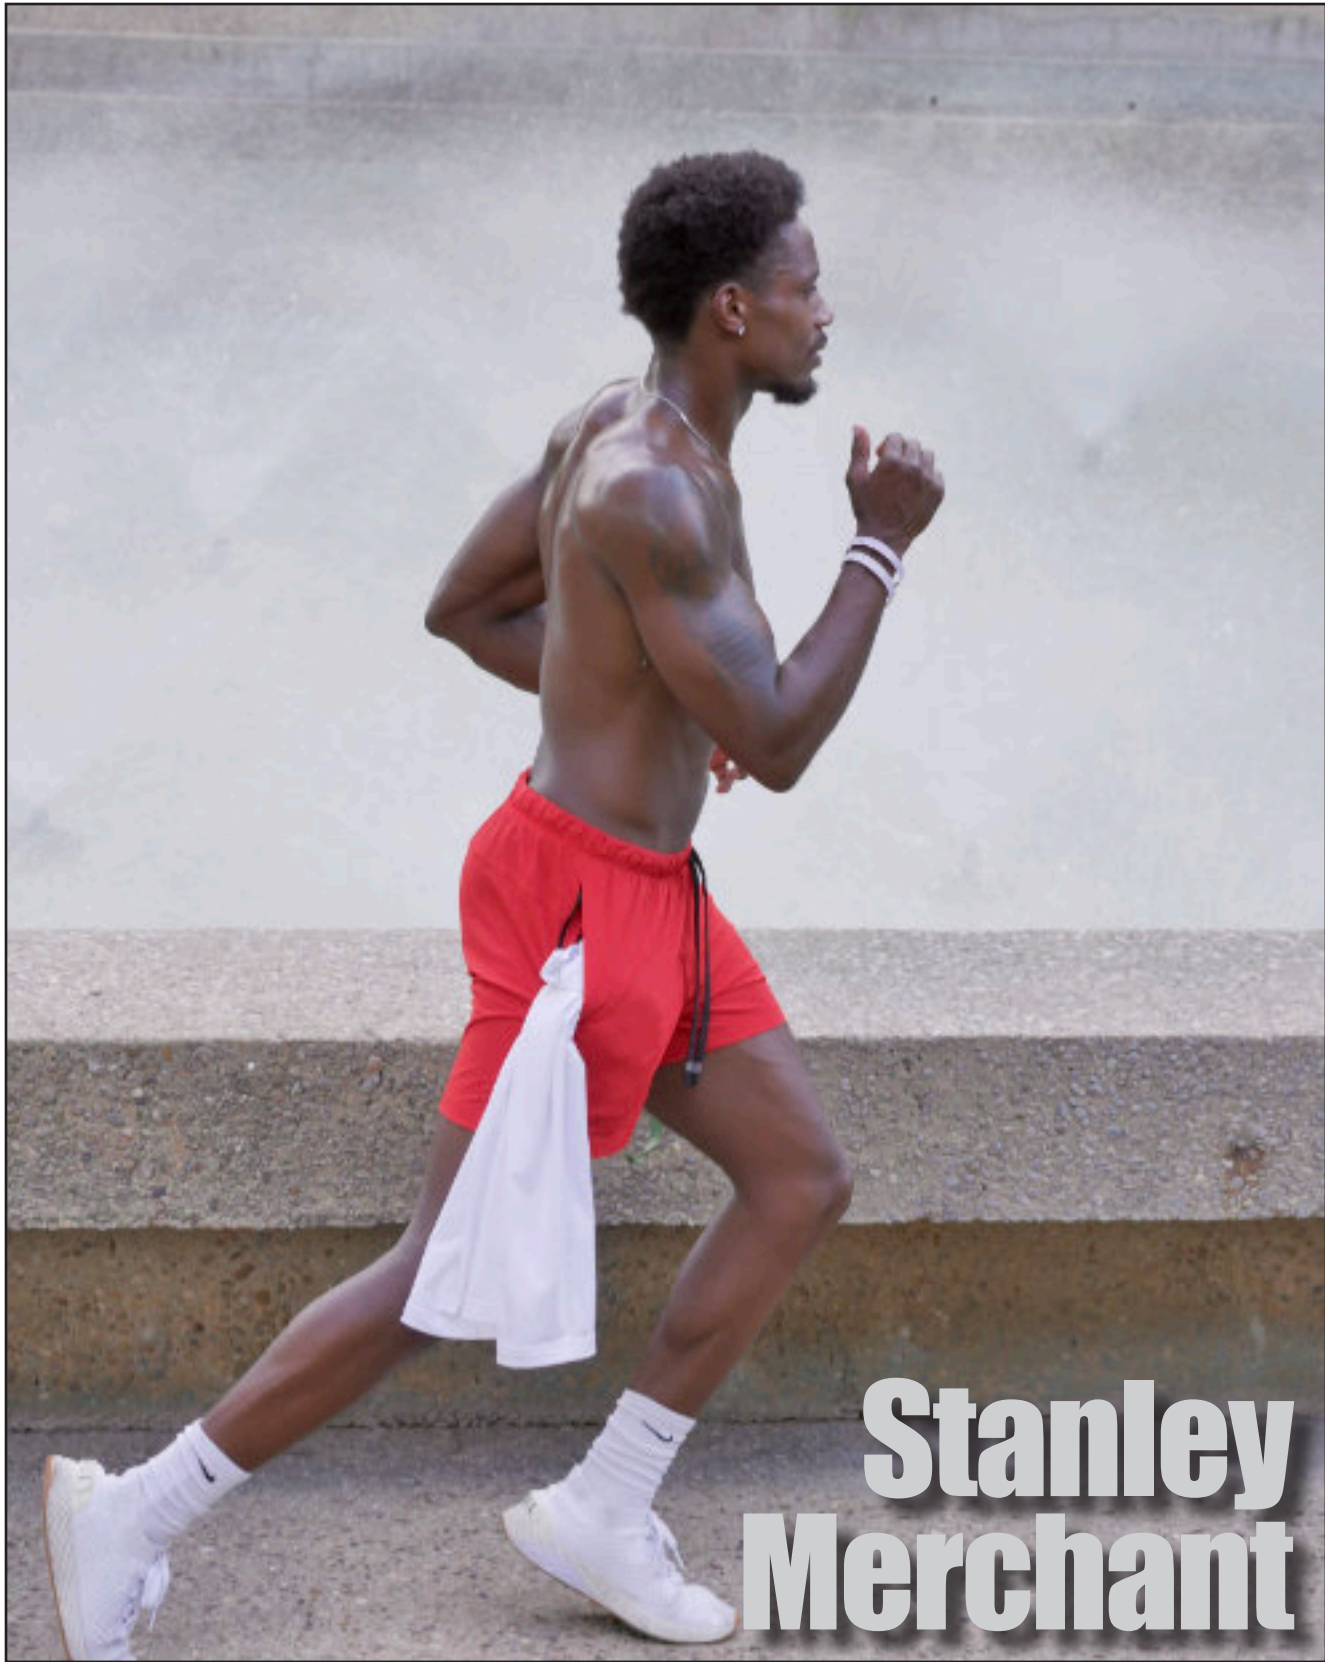

As a newer model, I am still building my experience. One of my proudest achievements is completing a photoshoot with Studio 1 through Models USA. I look forward to growing with the team and turning future opportunities into even greater accomplishments.

My name is Tana Sakamoto, and tattooing has become much more than a career to me—it is the way I express myself, connect with people, and leave a permanent piece of my creativity in the world.

My dream is to build a name that people recognize not only because of the tattoos I create, but because of the feeling behind them. I want every client who sits in my chair to leave feeling like they received something personal, meaningful, and uniquely theirs. My passion has always been bold artwork, strong lines, bright colors, and designs that demand attention. As I continue growing, I want to push those strengths further while continuing to explore new styles and techniques.

One of my biggest goals is to establish myself as a respected artist within the tattoo industry and eventually build a brand and business that represents who I am as an artist. I want to create a space where creativity is encouraged, artists can grow together, and clients feel comfortable trusting us with their stories and ideas. I also want my work to reach beyond my local area—to travel, tattoo alongside artists I admire, attend conventions, build relationships throughout the industry, and eventually have my artwork recognized on a much larger scale.

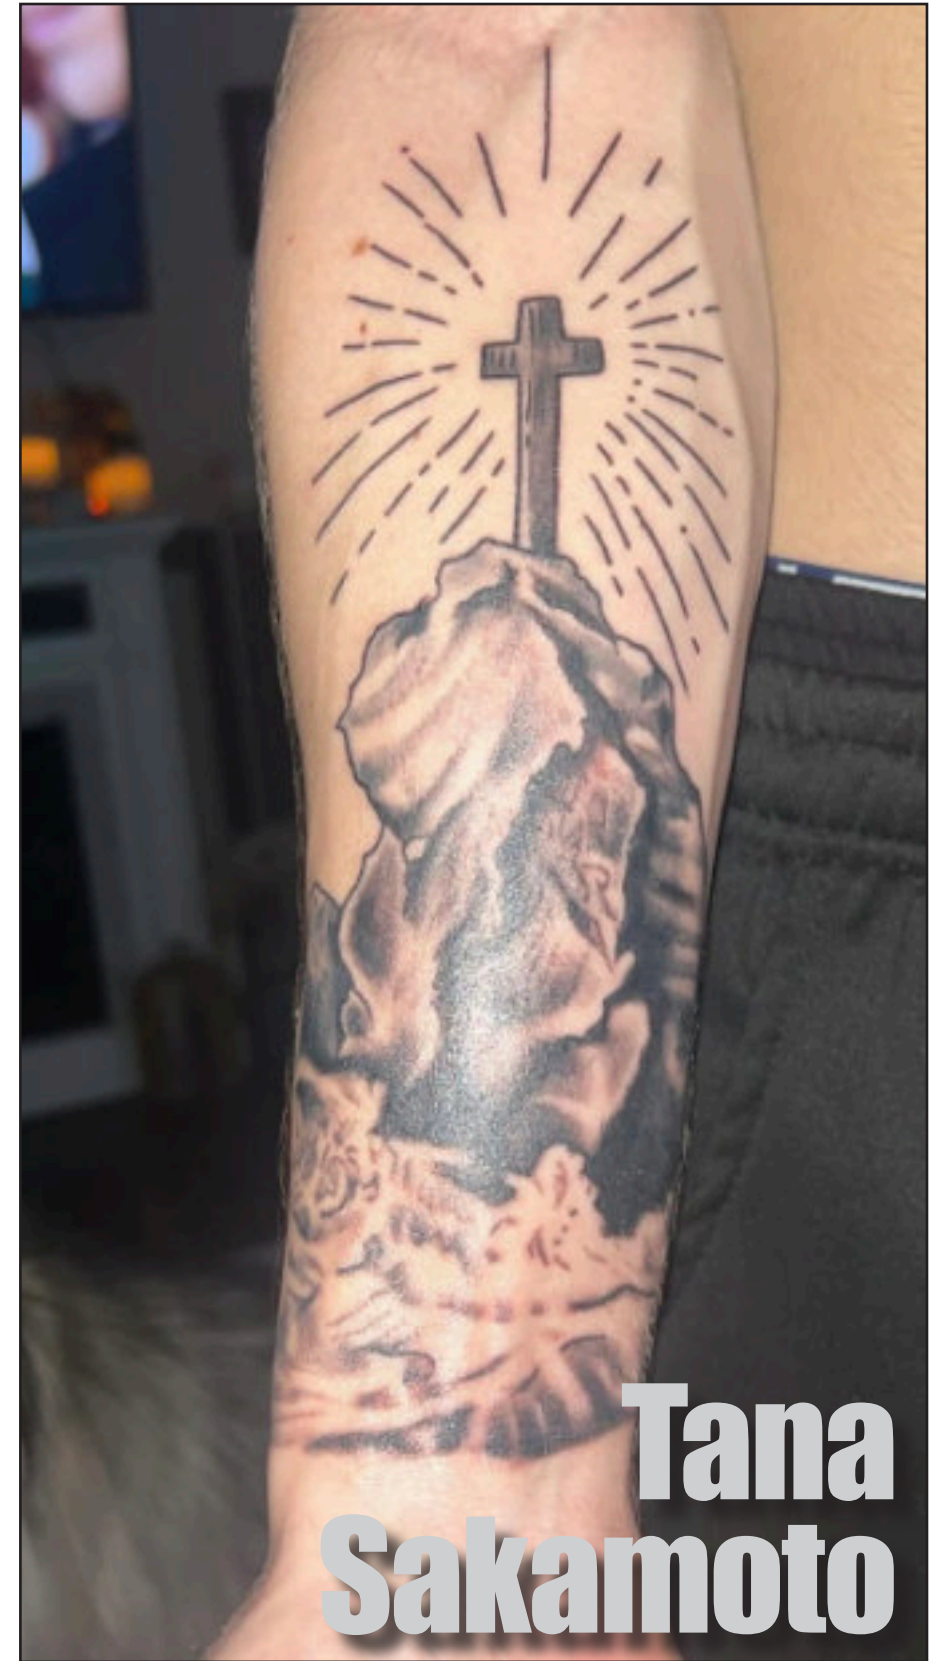

The road to getting here has not always been easy. I have faced setbacks, difficult circumstances, and periods where I questioned whether I was moving in the right direction. I have spent years working largely on my own, learning through experience and figuring out how to keep pushing forward even when opportunities did not come easily. Those challenges have taught me patience, resilience, and the importance of continuing to show up even when nobody is watching.

I believe some of my greatest achievements are not necessarily measured by awards or recognition. They are measured by how far I have come as an artist, the clients who trust me with their skin, and the moments when I look at a finished tattoo and know I created something I am genuinely proud of. Every piece has taught me something, and every client has contributed to my growth in some way.

Looking toward the future, I want to continue challenging myself. I want to become more versatile without losing the bold identity that makes my work mine. I want to build a stronger portfolio, collaborate with other talented artists, travel for tattooing, participate in conventions, and continue learning from everyone around me. Most importantly, I want to create work that people remember.

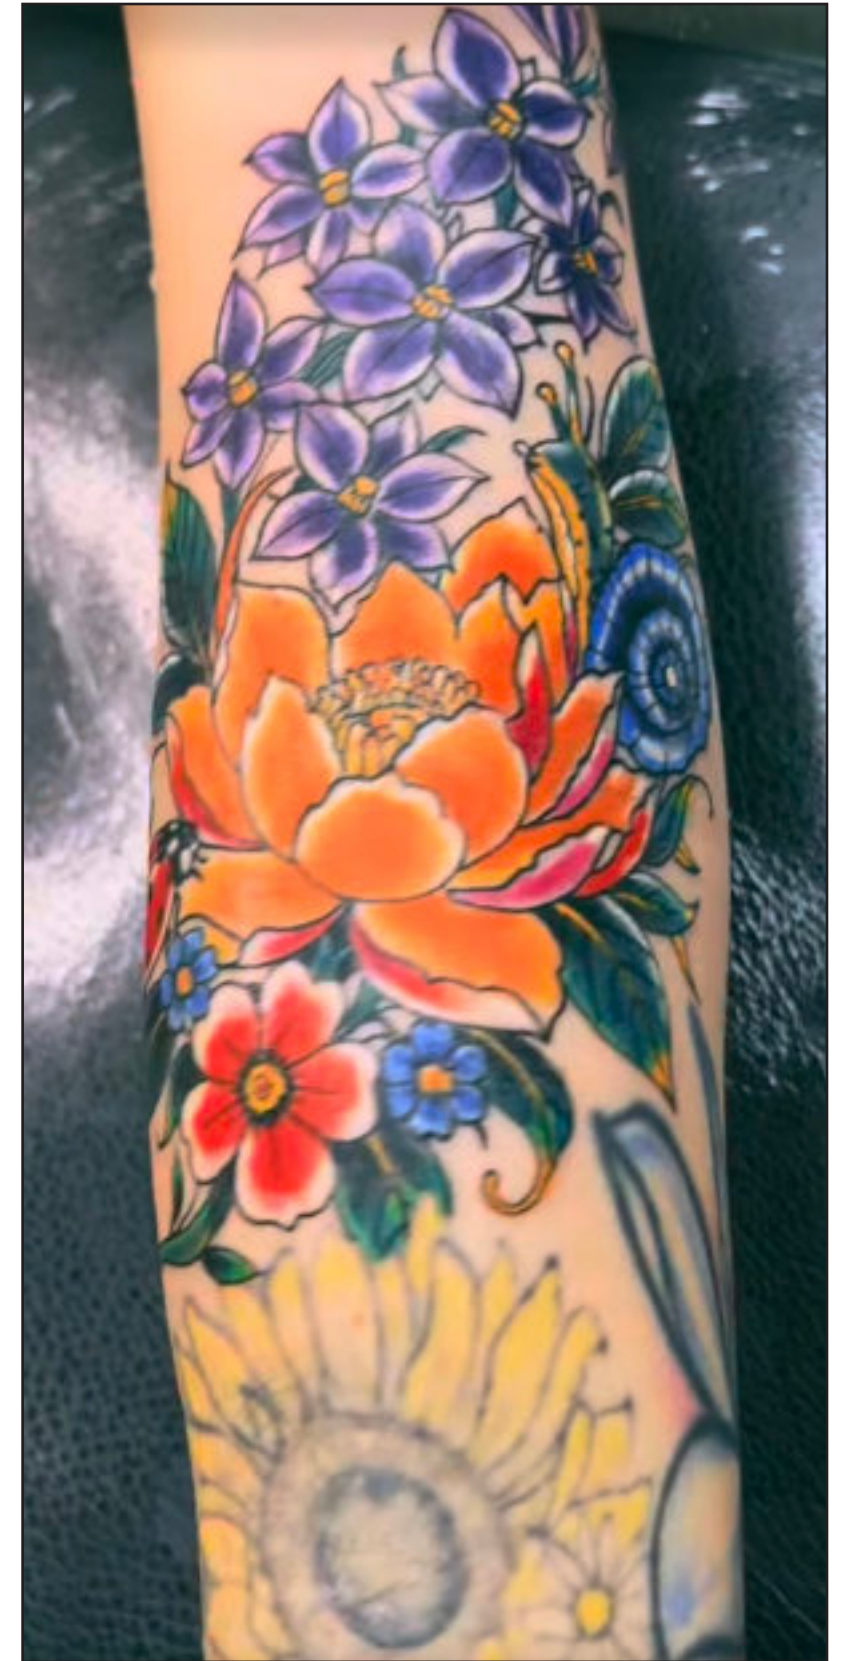

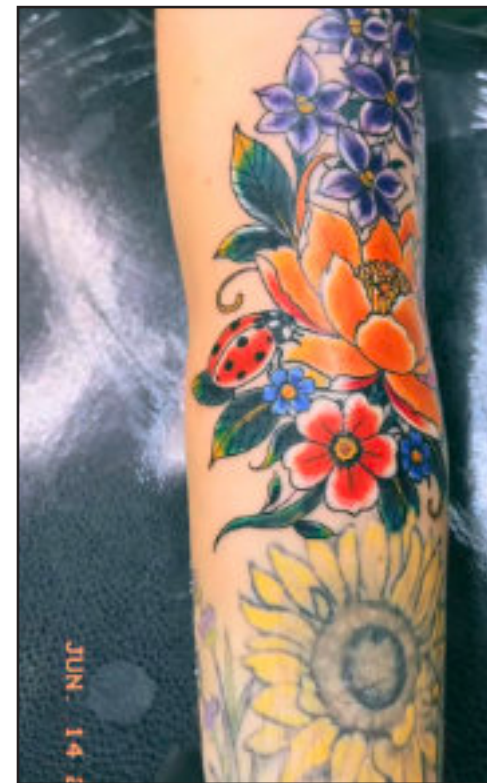

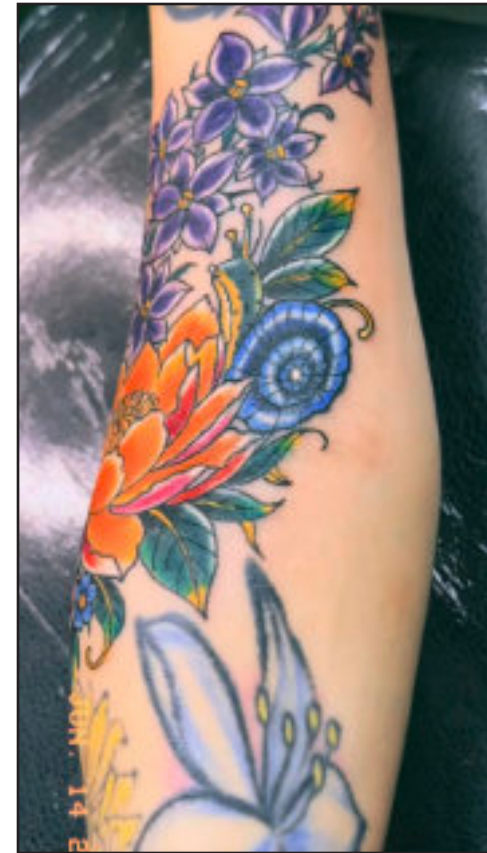

My ultimate goal is simple: to make a lasting mark—not just on skin, but on the people and community around me. I want my name, Tana Sakamoto, to represent passion, originality, hard work, and an artist who never stopped believing in what he could become. Photos Credits: Myself
