brought so much joy and creativity into my life, along with wonderful friendships that I deeply cherish. I look forward to continuing my skating journey for many years to come — and to meeting even more inspiring adult skaters along the way!

My name is Mila. My connection to the ice began when I was a child, skating recreationally just for fun. Even after growing up, I stayed connected to the sport by following major competitions and admiring the artistry and athleticism of the skaters. When the Covid-19 pandemic hit, I felt a strong pull to do something active and meaningful — and that long-standing love for figure skating resurfaced. In November 2020, I visited a local outdoor rink and that moment reignited my passion for the sport. What began as a simple return to the ice soon turned into a serious commitment to figure skating and improving my skills.

Since then, I've been skating regularly, and with the guidance of my coach Adrienne I even began competing. Medaling at the 2024 and 2025 Adult Championships has definitely been a major highlight, along with performing in the Scott Hamilton's Sk8 to Elim8 Cancer Ice Shows to benefit a local hospital and cancer research — an unforgettable and deeply meaningful experience.

Storytelling is at the heart of why I skate — I put my heart and soul into every program, striving to connect with the audience and express something genuine through my performances. I'm currently working on my Silver-level skating skills and hope to pass the test very soon.

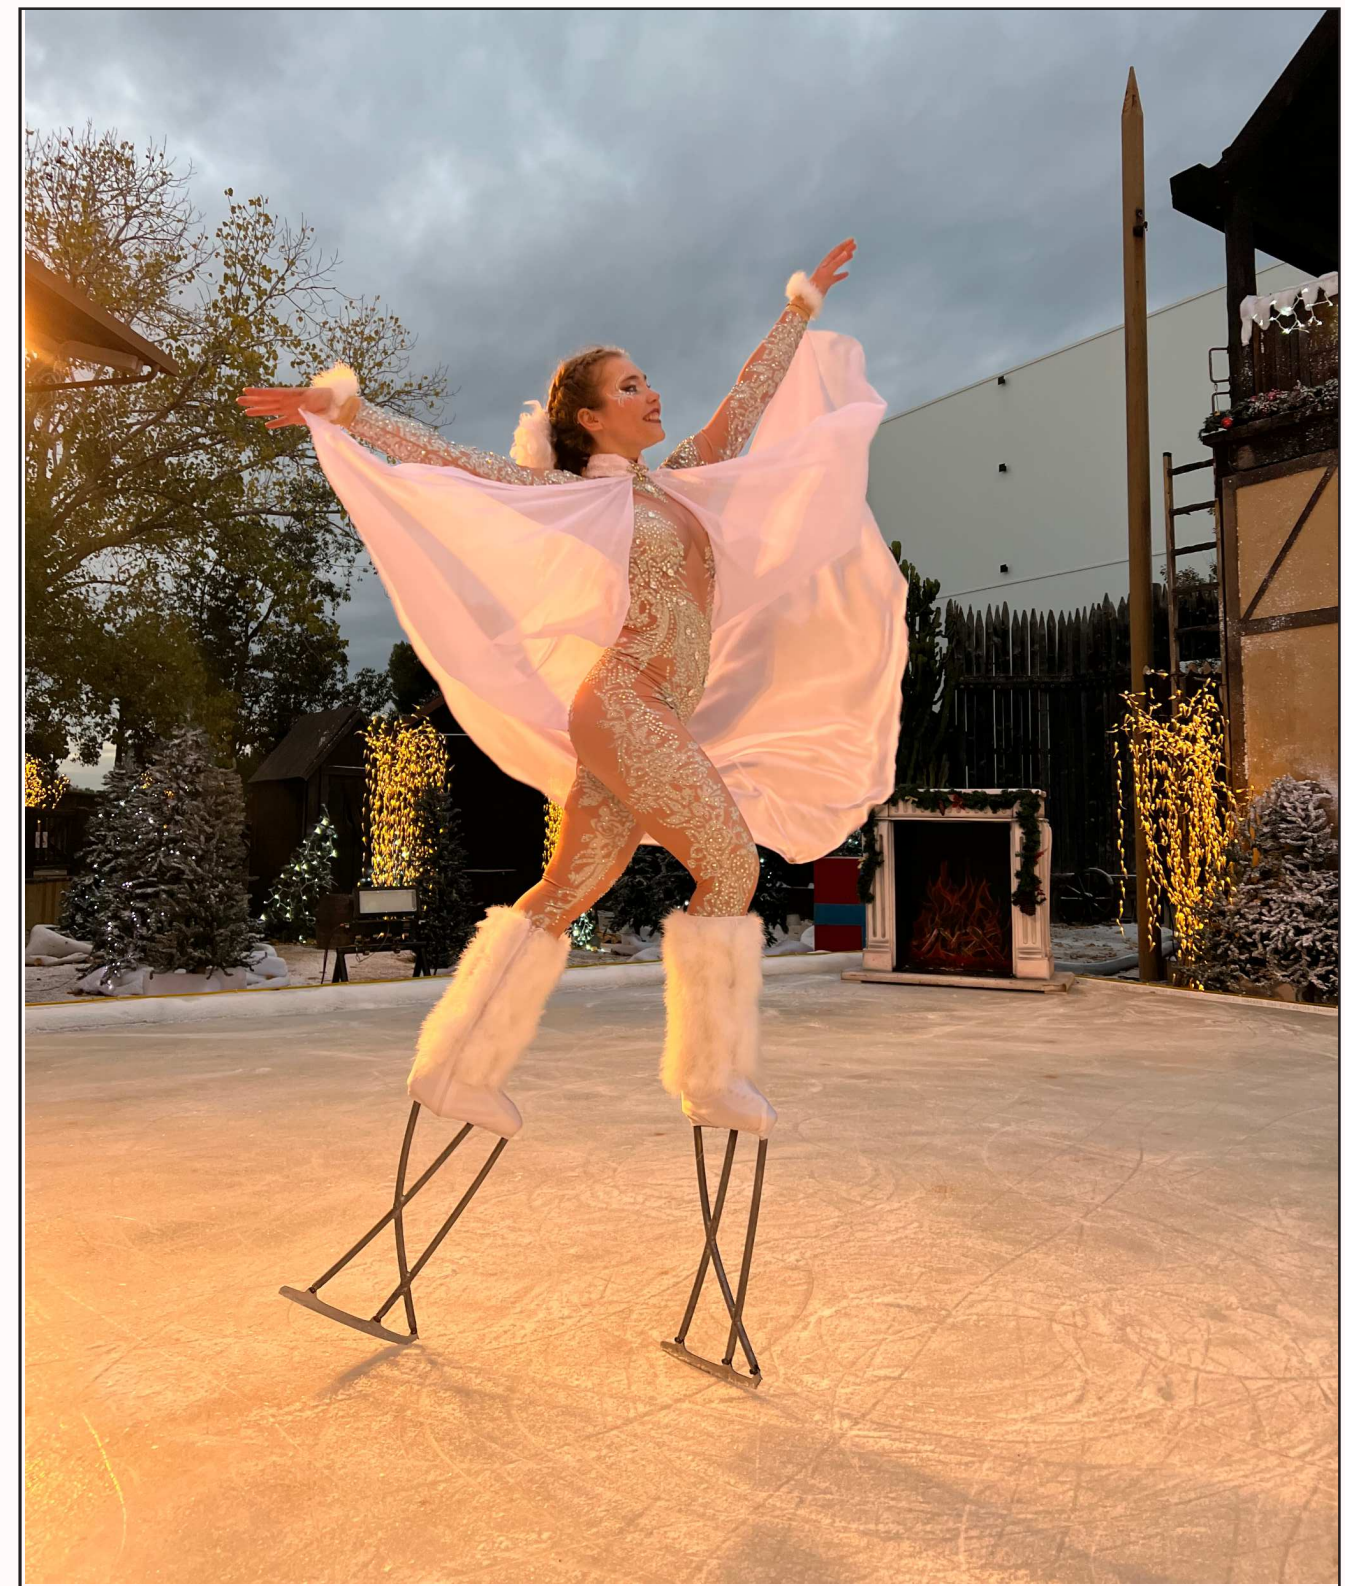

Balancing my career, community involvement, and skating hasn't been easy, but I thrive on challenges. Figure skating has

Hello, my name is Autumn Simms (aka Lunanyght) and I am American figure skater. I was raised in a small town called Oxford in PA. Growing up we didn't have access to an ice rink. I am part ecuadorian and African American. My mom is an immigrant and my dad is from Mississippi USA. Figure skating and hockey wasn't a main sport in our household. I always had dreams of being a figure skater. When I turned 25 I decided to take a chance and learn how to figure skate. I guess you can say I fell in love! It was a challenge at first but I stayed resilient and kept practicing. I made it to Adult level 6 and pre freestyle. I have been in a couple exhibition shows and traveled to a lot of different rinks in the Northeast area. My future plans are to learn all my freestyles levels and do a competition. On the side I am a figure skating influencer on social media. My handle name is @lunanyght_iceskating. I have been in a few small films in America. I played as a extra in those films. In my spare time I like to write, and work on other small projects. My advice for anyone who wants to get into skating, follow your dreams and keep on skating!

Autumn Luna Simms

My name is Kaylie and I an adult beginner figure skater! I started in 2023, at 29 years old, following a lifelong passion! My favorite skills are camel spin and backspin and I am working on Flip and Lutz!

Of course, skating comes with challenges. Staying fit, healthy, and injury-free requires dedication—I train regularly with stretching, conditioning, and off-ice classes. Mentally, it means early mornings, discipline, and sometimes missing out on social events. But I wouldn't change it for anything. Skating has given me lifelong friends, pushed me out of my comfort zone, and transformed me from a shy 10-year-old into a confident, happy young woman who is truly in love with her sport.

2025 has been especially exciting for me. I worked as a skating double in an independent film called "Skate", I won several adult competitions after turning 18, and qualified as a Level 1 Assistant Coach. Now, I get to share my passion with both children and adults, helping them discover the joy of skating just as I did.

sport: I love the freedom, the creativity, and the chance to dance, act, and wear incredible costumes—many of which I help make myself. On the ice, I can step into character, leave my worries behind, and simply enjoy the moment. Unlike competitive skating, shows are about connection rather than judgment; even if you fall, the audience cheers you on, giving you the confidence to keep going.

Like many young skaters, I've always dreamed of performing with Disney on Ice or travelling the world through skating. To work towards that dream, I've set myself goals: earning lead roles in Christmas shows, being part of the show dance team for our Christmas production, and this year I am touring the UK with Planet Ice's "On Tour" Christmas cast.

Genevieve Hartshorne

My name is Genevieve Hartshorne, I'm 18 years old, and I skate at Hemel Hempstead in the UK.

I first stepped onto the ice in 2017, at the age of 10. Inspired by my childhood heroes, Jane Torvill and Christopher Dean, I used to go to my local rink after school, where I quickly fell in love with skating. While many of my friends spent their time playing netball, football, or gymnastics, I found my passion at the local rink.

That same year, I entered my very first spin, spiral, and jump competition—and won. Since then, I've consistently placed in the top three every season. In 2018, I performed in my first Easter show, and I've continued to take part in Christmas and Easter productions, as well as artistic competitions. Show skating has become my favourite part of the
